Dear friends!

Here is the final issue of our Electronic Journal for 2012!

It is published in the fourth quarter of the year, when on November 8 world professional public for the first time noted the international "Day of radiology".

This holiday, by decision of European Society of Radiology (ESR), Radiological society of North America (RSNA) and American College of Radiology (ACR), is dedicated to the day open

X-rays by Wilhelm K. Roentgen on 8 November 1895. Target of International day of radiology creation is to attract attention to this important section of medicine, to the benefits which gives proper use of modern visualization tools.

Those are the most important tasks, set before our Journal!

We pay tribute to our great predecessor - Wilhelm K. Roentgen. He made a revolution, laid the basis of our profession, which, since the discovery of X-rays transformed into the most important and interesting direction – radiology, and modern medicine cant be imagined without it.

Dear readers! I congratulate You with the coming 2013 year!

Health and happiness! Professional success and satisfaction of work and life!

See you on REJR pages!
